

Who'll Be Our Next Environmental Champions?

Nominations
Now Open for 2022 Awards
Program

For 11 years, Aquarion's Environmental Champion Awards have honored volunteer efforts that have helped make Connecticut a better, safer and more sustainable place to live.

This year, we're looking for outstanding achievements in four categories – Adults, Non-Profits, Businesses and Students. Winners in the first three can name an environmental non-profit to receive a $5,000 grant from Aquarion. Student winner will receive a $1,000 award.

Each year, we look to you to tell us about individuals and organizations who've made outstanding contributions to protecting and stewarding Connecticut's natural resources.

So who are you going to nominate? Please don't be shy about naming yourself, a company or non-profit you work with. Or a favorite student and their outstanding environmental project.

Nominations close May 6. We'll name the winners on June 4 at a special event at Connecticut's Beardsley Zoo. For more details and our nomination form, head for www.aquarionwater.com/awards.

Discounted Rain Barrel Offer Returns

This spring, Aquarion wants to help you save water and money by creating a water supply of your own – for your lawn and garden.

We're again offering 60-gallon rain barrels to our customers for just $75. That's 40% off the regular retail price of $125. Positioned to catch runoff from your roof, each of these recycled, food-grade barrels can provide water for a 100-square-foot garden all summer long.

Reserve your barrel now for pickup in May in Darien, Fairfield, Greenwich, Litchfield, Simsbury, Stonington or Trumbull. You'll find all the details at www.aquarionwater.com/rainbarrels.
